Burt-Watts and Others Create Purr-fect Clinic and Offices for Emancipet in East Austin

AUSTIN, TX, November 9, 2009 —Burt-Watts Inc., a leading Austin-based commercial general contracting firm, was part of a team that helped to create Emancipet’s new spay/neuter clinic and administrative offices located at 7201 Levander Loop, Austin, Texas. Emancipet is an Austin-based non-profit that provides low-cost spay/neuter and wellness services to over 20,000 pets each year.

Donating over $30,000 in labor and materials, Burt-Watts assisted the organization with its interior build-out of two buildings; one is a clinic used to perform veterinarian surgery and the other houses Emancipet’s key administrative functions.

“Emancipet undertakes important work across the community. We are excited to support this organization and its cause,” said Tommy Burt, president and co-founder, Burt-Watts.

The organization provides spay/neuter services throughout the Central Texas area via both mobile and stationary clinics, serving between 1,200 – 2,000 pets each month. The organization employs highly skilled veterinary surgeons and technicians.

“We appreciate Burt-Watts’ contributions. Their efforts go a long way in enabling us to serve the community and its pets. We are very grateful for their support,” said Amy Mills, executive director, Emancipet.

Numerous organizations and individuals came together and provided $165,000 in donations and donated services to complete the center, including Emily and Nancy Word, Austin IT Guy, Johnson Security & Surveillance, Jones Lang LaSalle, Architects Plus, CJG Engineers, and Paul Mair Millwork.
