Burt-Watts Completes 'Bazaar' New Austin Project

April 01, 2010

Austin-based Burt-Watts Inc. recently completed a new headquarters space for Austin-based software innovators, Bazaarvoice. The company's new 50,800-sq-ft headquarters in Austin represents an expansion from the company's previous headquarters.

The team that managed the project includes:

John Knowles, AIA, director of interiors, Davis RKP Architects

John Aleshire, president, The Aleshire Company

Ken Saunders, CFO, Bazaarvoice

"Bazaar Voice is one of Austin's leading-edge innovators and we enjoyed collaborating with them to create a facility that would support their ongoing expansion," said Tommy Burt, president and cofounder, Burt-Watts.
